

Dishrag Soup
& Poverty Cake

Idaho Potluck of Essays on Food

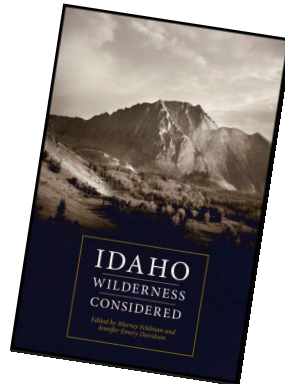

This “potluck” explores recipes and more through the secret ingredients of community, friendship, family and memory. Forty-three contributors from Coeur d’Alene to Pocatello offer culinary tales and recipes worth sharing. As the introduction states, it’s not so much a cookbook per se, but an eclectic mix of poignant and humorous stories of the people behind the food: a Nez Perce root-gathering mentor; a professor mixing politics and blue berry pancakes; survivors of the Great Depression who made soup from almost nothing. ($15.00 + tax)

Idaho Wilderness Considered

an anthology of essays, photos, and other reflections

An anthology of essays, photos, and other reflections in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Wilderness Act and the establishment of new wilderness areas in Idaho in 2015. The book features contributions by 25 Idahoans, including an interview with Governor Cecil Andrus on his life in conservation, an essay by U.S. Congressman Mike Simpson on Boulder-White Clouds legislation, and more. ($15.00 + tax).
